MOVE TO RAISE FUNDS FOR OIL PORTRAIT OF DR. WILLIAMS ANNOUNCED

Project Will Require $500

ALL INVITED TO CONTRIBUTE

The announcement was made last Friday evening at the annual Homecoming dance to the effect that a movement was under way to raise funds to have a portrait of President H. B. Williams painted in oils. The amount necessary to carry out this project will be approximately five hundred dollars. The announcement met with nominal response. The announcement read as follows:

It is the customary practice among those who have received benefit from prominent men in political, business, and educational circles, sometime during their chief's service to have his portrait done in oils.

In keeping with this custom we, as representatives of the student body of Bowling Green University, have thought it fitting to organize a movement to raise funds for the purpose of having a portrait done in oils of President H. B. Williams.

The student body, faculty, and alumni are invited to participate in assisting to raise the amount required. It has been thought wise to restrict the amount of donation as follows: Not more than the sum of twenty-five cents for each student, two dollars for each faculty member, and one dollar for each alumnus.

The faculty may leave their contribution with Miss Cummings in the Dean's office.

The amount of contributions will of course determine the quality of the portrait.

CHEMISTS MEET

Dr. Martin and Robert Brown attended the regional meeting of the American Chemical Society in Toledo Oct. 25-26. Important speakers who addressed the meetings on those two days were: Thomas Midgley, Jr., vice president Ethyl Gasoline Laboratories, and W. D. Harkins, University of Chicago. Chemists of note and distinction from many surrounding states were also present.

Oberlin Registrar At B. G. S. U.

William H. Seamon, Director of Admissions at Oberlin College, visited the University Nov. 7 in the interests of uniform college entrance examinations in the state.

B. G. S. U. Accounts Checked

It is the practice of the state to have a periodical financial examination of all state institutions and departments. It has been some three years since the accounts of the University were examined. Mr. Robert Zucher representing the department of the State Auditor is at the University now checking its financial transactions since the last examination.

Chances Good

B. G. S. U. May Still Get PWA Grants

In the columns of this paper some weeks ago mention was made of the fact that the University had appealed for PWA grants of funds to help in bearing the expense of an addition to the auditorium, a concrete stadium, and a combined recitation building and swimming pool.

Recent word has come to the University that there is still hope of favorable action on these grants. Dr. Williams has taken steps through PWA officials and influential friends of the University to have these grants receive further consideration.

The projects are all imperatively needed and favorable action on the grants would make it possible for the University to round out its present building program in a satisfactory manner.

Faculty Met Wednesday

A meeting of the University faculty in the Recital Hall of the Practical Arts building was called Nov. 6 by Pres. Williams. Dr. Kohl spoke on the function of graduate work in the University and Dr. Williams made a number of announcements to the faculty.

A tea and social hour followed in the Music Studio. Dean Sharp and Dr. McCain poured. Refreshments were made and served by the Home Economics Department.

LANGUAGE GROUP WELCOMES "NOVAE"

The Foreign Language club held an unusual and highly enjoyable meeting on last Thursday afternoon, at which were welcomed especially Dr. Rew and the students new to the department.

The president, Josephine Herman, presided over the meeting and introduced the various numbers of the program.

Homecoming Fine Success CAMPUS THROGGED

Hundreds of former and present students and faculty members congregated in Bowling Green last week-end for the annual Homecoming, the first as a University.

From Friday afternoon until Sunday night there was a continuous round of dinners, dances, get-togethers, teas, and a good deal of just plain reminiscing. All organizations reported record turn-outs, and a delightful time was had at the second Alumni Banquet at the Women's Club, Friday evening.

Over a thousand dancers attempted to Rally Hop, and nearly as many watched the Falcons go down fighting Saturday afternoon. It was Saturday, too, that the weather-man tried unsuccessfully to dampen the Homecoming ardor. For despite the rainy conclusion, the University's 1935 Homecoming was pronounced a success.

Report Made to Teachers Association

The annual report of the College of Education to the American Association of Teachers' Colleges was completed and forwarded to the secretary this week. This is an elaborate report of some twenty-one pages. This report requires detailed information on the twelve standards of the Association. These standards cover such information as requirements for graduation, preparation of the faculty, teaching load, curriculum, financial support, etc. These reports are examined by a Committee on Accrediting and the rank of the institution is thereby determined. This institution has enjoyed Class A standard for several years.

Neilsen At Conference

Miss Neilsen attended the State Classical Conference at Tiffin, Oct. 24. Miss Neilsen is one of the officers of the council.

Chemistry Class Attends Lecture

Drs. Martin and Singer took a large number of their chemistry classes to hear the lecture by Dr. Mason, of Cornell University, at Toledo University, Nov. 12. Dr. Mason, who has done research work in the field of chemical microscopy, spoke on that subject and illustrated his lecture with a micro-projector.

Grove Improved Is WPA Grading Project

The grading of the grove is now being carried out as a WPA project. This work was begun last year when loads of dirt were hauled there to improve the soil and fill bumpy hollows. The ground is now being graded and cleared of stone and brush by WPA workers. The appropriation included enough grass seed to sow there in the spring. The old grove will become a fine park.

This grove was the last unimproved piece of land on the campus. It had resisted all attacks of mower and blade and stood a wilderness of weeds, a model of untramelled beauty. Soon it will attain the simple, controlled beauty of the rest of the campus. The Alma Mater has polished her last adornment.

Deans Attend Inauguration

Deans Overman and Hissong attended the inaugural ceremonies of Dr. Charles S. Anspaugh as President of Ashland College, Ashland, O., Friday morning. Owing to the fact that Dr. Williams expects to represent the University at the inauguration of Dr. Herman G. James as the twelfth president of Ohio University at Athens, O., on next Friday, Nov. 15, he did not attend the inauguration of President Anspaugh.

Shows Futility Of All War

YOUTH MUST BE WORLD MINDED

Dr. Hoppes addressed the joint meeting of the Y. W.-Y. M. C. A. Nov. 7 on the subject of securing permanent peace in the world. An appropriate Armistice Day song by Evelyn Wentz, who was accompanied by Annadelle Short, opened the program.

Dr. Hoppes depicted first the zealous spirit of the soldiers inspired by the war slogans and then the disillusion that has followed since the world has not been made safe for democracy and the Armistice has not meant permanent peace. He described war as the veneer of civilization broken to let out beastly, primitive man. The arguments against war were named: The horrors of war, the tremendous cost, the futility of it all, the Christian ethics involved.

Dr. Hoppes then challenged the youth of today to attempt a permanent peace which he thinks can perhaps be completed in the time of our sons. The methods of securing world peace were suggested by the speaker. The world should be made world-minded. Something that concerns one here today may also concern someone on the other side of the world so interdependent are we. War does not pay in dollars and cents to anyone but a few profiteers. World peace may be accomplished if the youth of today goes about organizing the thought of the people on a sufficiently wide basis as to make war impossible.

Prexy's Portrait . .

It is only fitting that a man who has given twenty-odd years of service to an institution and who will continue to do so for years to come should be given some sort of recognition by those who have benefited from his service. Within college groups the customary way of conferring this honor is the hanging of a portrait which will remain through the years a visible symbol of the appreciation and respect of many individuals.

Last week at the Homecoming dance it was announced that a movement had been started to raise funds for the purpose of having a portrait of Dr. Williams done in oils. The student body, faculty, and alumni are to contribute the funds necessary for accomplishing this purpose. Each of us should be glad for the opportunity to express our appreciation of the fine things Dr. Williams is doing.

The question of the title of membership for this institution in the American Association of University Women has frequently been considered by the University officials. Chapters of this organization are found in all the populous centers and they would be of great service to the women graduates of the University. This service constitutes furnishing lodging, information, and social contacts in all of the above cities. It has been felt, however, that application for membership should be withheld until the College of Liberal Arts was a little better developed.

The officials now feel that the University should be eligible in every way and are taking steps to make application for membership. The Secretary of the Association is Mary H. Smith, Washington, D. C.

EMERSONIANS
DEBATE & DISCUSS

A series for debate-discussions constituted the program of Emerson Literary Society Monday, Nov. 4. Following the opening speeches for and against, the question was thrown open for group discussion.

The topics and contenders were:

1—Student Loan-Fund: Yes: Lucille Baker; No: Charles Swain.

2—Little Frog in Big Pond vs Big Frog in Little Pond: former: Merritt Burke; latter: Merlin Howbert.

3—A Man Should Be Sent to the Beauty Contest: Yes: Edgar Emerson; No: Ruth Flaler.

The next meeting will be held on Nov. 18 at 7:00 in Room 103-A.

MUSIC DEPT.
ENTERTAINS

The assembly program last Wednesday was given by members of the music department. The wood wind quintet was something different. Very little music has been written for this combination of musical instruments, which accounts for the fact that they are so seldom heard. The instruments played were: flute, oboe, bassoon, French horn and clarinet. Mr. Church gave a brief explanation of wood wind instruments and their construction, after this the quintet played a few numbers. Judging from the response everyone enjoyed the program.

Words and music of the new University hymn were flashed on the screen and members of the student body again practiced the song. The results were quite encouraging. At the close of the program printed copies were handed to students as they left the assembly hall. Before long every student on the campus will be familiar with the new song, due to the efforts of members of our music department.

We Wonder

1. Why the two clocks in the Library Reading room so seldom agree;

2. Why Physical Education classes are not dismissed early enough to allow students time to dress for the following class;

3. Who will be chosen to make the debate trip to Houston, Texas, this winter;

4. How soon the proposed Student Council will be a functioning body;

5. When the stars and stripes will be flown daily on our university flag pole;

6. Why the new instructors are so exacting?

The Lot of The Soldier

Our daily papers and magazines bring us fresh accounts of the campaign in Africa. We frequently see pictures of Italian troops embarking for service on the newest campaign in history, perhaps many of our own young men wish they could have a part in that great adventure. Have they given the subject sufficient thought to realize what a soldier really is?

A soldier is one who enters into an obligation to some chief or government; to devote for a special period his whole energies, and his life if necessary, to the furtherance of some policy of his chief or government. The consideration may be immediate pay or prospective reward, or the contract may be merely for loyal devotion. The acknowledgement of this service by the employer constitutes the man a soldier and empowers him to take life in open warfare without being liable to the penalties of an assassin or robber. The fact that he may be mercenary, that is, receive wages for killing and being killed, does not render his profession less honorable. He bears arms that others may do without them. He is precluded by the exigencies of military training from maintaining himself by peaceful occupation; it is therefore but fair that those whom he protects should support him and give him over and above actual maintenance for the continual risk of his life. In the American service the pay of a private soldier is twenty-one dollars a month, or seventy cents a day. Think of it! Risking his life or taking the life of a fellow being for such a paltry sum, yet there are men on the streets of our city who have done that very thing, not so long ago.

If a man willingly enlist himself in what he believes to be an unrighteous cause it is an act of moral turpitude; but when once enlisted, the soldier ceases to be morally responsible for the justice or iniquity of the war he wages: that rests with his employer. Did we think so of the German soldiers in 1917? Obedience, implicit and entire is the soldier's sole virtue. The maxim is "The military force never deliberates but always obeys".

Note—The term soldier, in this case, applies to any man who bears arms in some branch of service. Military organizations carry various names as: Army, Navy, Marines, Police, Constabulary, Scouts, Guards, etc., etc.

Impressions

New members of the faculty have had opportunity to form a few opinions of Bowling Green University campus and the following are a few that have been formed—

The students are interesting to work with . . . Their scholarship is a good average . . . They are very serious in their purpose . . . It is a friendly campus.—Prof. Allen.

I was impressed by the harmony on the campus among both students and instructors . . . and by the beauty of the new buildings especially the library . . . The standard of scholarship is just as high as at the University of Illinois . . . The faculty and the town form one of the friendliest groups I have met . . . The entertainments shows remarkable program-planning efficiency.—Prof. Rew.

The friendliness on the part of the faculty and students with whom I have come in contact is a particularly nice feature of the campus.

Miss Margaret Scruggs

The campus is very pleasant and the buildings harmonious . . . As far as the calendar of activities is concerned I find it much fuller than at Indiana University . . . I have also been impressed with the seriousness with which the University is taking itself as a university and I believe it will rank high among these institutions.

RIDGE ST. NEWS

For two days this week the Fifth grade displayed clothing and trinkets that came from Mexico. There was a girl's dress, handmade lace, a sombrero, figures of Mexican vendors, figures of peons one horseback which were woven of fiber and fibre plaque. The exhibit was most instructive.

In connection with the study of the United States, the Fourth grade collected industrial and agricultural products for an exhibit. The Fifth grade was invited to see and hear about it. The pupils also told interesting facts about limestone formations in this part of the country.

The Sixth grade has been enjoying the study of the Babylonians. The pupils are learning what the Babylonians contributed to civilization. They have found that our ideas for roof gardens, church steeples, arches, and many of our arithmetical measurements can be traced back to these early Babylonians.

Fraternities

Ye Olde Five Brothers

Perhaps the best dance that this fraternity has ever put on or even the best dance ever given at this University was staged by the Five Brothers last Saturday night.

The music was good! Jimmy Richards and his Ramblers form an orchestra to be proud of and we are really proud of his performance on this occasion. The sandwiches, coffee, and rolls that were served met with unanimous approval. But the best part perhaps of any such dance is the old friends that one may see. A large number of these old pals of ours were on hand, still the same jolly old crew that we looked up to when we were Freshmen.

Delhi Notes

The Delhi Boys wrestled with sixty-five alumni for the two days of Homecoming.

Every night this homecoming, and every year in fact, the boys sleep in shifts. Sleep four hours then relinquish the one-fifth interest in a bed to someone else. Most of the boys could only get one turn, however, and indeed felt lucky if they were permitted to sleep at all even during their shift. No one was favored. Our doctors, lawyers, dentists, professors, teachers, coaches, graduate students, and everyone else slept and slept, and slept again not in one continuous sleep but at intervals. There will be a short business meeting Nov. 18 at 9 o'clock. All pledges cordially invited.

COMMONERS

Permit me to make some rather sundry remarks. The Commoners wonder—why the recent 3-K Scavenger Hunt seemed to concentrate its attack upon our particular fraternity house. The result of this hunt was that Walt Panning found he had no clothes left except "one" of a pair of green socks. Perhaps that explains Walt's absence from chapel of late. Also, one of the other good members of the Frat, who answers to the name of Dale, complains that he had to eat dry bread for a couple days following the Scavenger Hunt due to the fact that one of the enthusiasts took the wrapper off a loaf of bread of his. Regardless of anything that might have disappeared from the Frat house, we hope the girls had a big time and really got what they were after.

The Senior elections have finally been completed and from our observations they were kept respectable and honorable expressions of the opinion of the group. They were conducted well and we believe they mark a new era in campus elections.

- SOCIAL ACTIVITIES -

WILLIAMS HALL

We had open house all week-end or so it seemed by the large number of guests. Homecoming was a grand success and everyone had a lovely time.

The dorm was decorated throughout with many beautiful cut flowers, gold and brown mums, ferns and palms gracing the halls and tables in the dining room. The meals were the best possible—thanks to Mrs. Bowen, our dietician.

By the way does anyone know who entered room 107 Sunday morning and covered one of the sleeping girls with confetti?

A meager few of our alumni and visitors were: Miss Catherine Thew, Marion; Misses Eileen Perrin, Virginia Albaugh, Violet Popp, Marie Bedell, Geraldine Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. Sharn, Mr. Willoughby, all of Lorain; Louise Westbarger, Kalida; Frances Calderwood, Kathryn Calderwood, Greenville, O.; Mary Carr, Hicksville; Helen Scudler, Piqua; Thais Nobis, Ellen Rae Guerin, Paulding; Ruth Hanna, Cleveland; Loretta Haack, Toledo; Minnie Thompson, Toledo; Mr. and Mrs. George Stevens, Lorain; Misses Jeanette Wright, Juanita Bailey, Kathryn Fox, La Verda Hutchinson, and many others whose names we can not include because of lack of space.

From The Training School

Upon the request of the parents, the Junior second grade stayed after school to show how they learned to read. Ten mothers and two fathers who were interested, attended this demonstration lesson and stayed afterwards to ask questions. This lesson proved so successful that a demonstration lesson in number work is planned for the near future.

At the present time the Sixth grade is extremely interested in the story of ancient Greece in history, in the people, animals, and plants of the tropics in geography, and in the division of decimals in arithmetic. The pupils are preparing to do map work and are enjoying poetry. They are doing everything else that goes with the Sixth grade and enjoying it while they are doing it.

Dean Dorm Dashes

Talk about crowds! Dean Dorm was crowded to overflowing last week-end. There were 15 alumni here besides the regular college girls. And what meals Mother Dean served us! We are still talking about them. All the alumni seemed to have an enjoyable week-end, and we are sure that we did.

We had a birthday party for Elenora Wathers last Monday night. It was supposed to be a surprise but we suspect that the honored guest had heard and seen all. How about it Elenora?

RALLY HOP ATTRACTS HOST

Over 1,000 former students, faculty members, and present students with their relatives and friends attended the annual Homecoming dance in the Men's Gym Friday night, Nov. 8. During intermission, entertainment was provided by Dr. Swanson and his folk dancing group in costume. Everyone agreed that the orchestra was excellent, the refreshments plentiful and good, and, on the whole, the rally very successful.

K. P. C. Breakfasts

There were 45 present at the Kindergarten-Primary Club Homecoming breakfast held Saturday morning Nov. 9 at the Nookery. The tables were attractively decorated with candles and flowers. The favors were little houses with "welcome" over the doorway. Our guest speaker was Miss Wills. We hope everyone enjoyed our breakfast and that we may see you again next year.

Commerce Corner

Quill-Type members present at the annual Homecoming Luncheon Saturday noon enjoyed the largest and most successful homecoming affair the club has ever had. We were certainly glad to welcome such a large percentage of alumni back again.

After the luncheon had been served to the group attractively seated in the Nookery, Miss Marjorie Sterling, president of the organization took charge of a short program. Greetings were extended from all of the past presidents of the organization. These were followed by remarks by the club's sponsors, Miss Ogle and Mr. Knepper.

Prof. Knepper gave some interesting suggestions as to future possibilities and duties of the organization since the creation of the College of Business Administration. The group adjourned in high spirits to attend the football game.

Quill-Type will hold its regular meeting Wednesday evening, Nov. 13 in room 208 P. A. All members are urged to be present.

Phratra Phases

Why was everyone burning the midnight oil Sunday night? Well, we had to write lesson plans and education papers sometime.

We were very glad to have had eighteen of our alumni back with us. (Everything was OK until we had to sleep on the floor). We kept them plenty busy—Dance Friday night; breakfast at the house Saturday morning; football game Saturday afternoon—more eats (coffee and sandwiches); Sorority dinner Saturday evening at six o'clock; Delhi dance. A big week-end! A grand Homecoming!

Five Sister Flashes

Whew! What a week-end we've had! We've had a grand homecoming and enjoyed seeing the alumni ever so much but it is a bit wearing and tearing, isn't it? At our annual luncheon at the Women's Club Saturday noon we had a large number of the alumni back. When we hear them talk "shop" we can't help wondering!

We wish to take this opportunity to express our hearty approval of the excellent presentation which the Gold Mask gave us of the delightful play "Aren't We All". In fact we wish we could have more like it much oftener.

Las Amigas

We'll have to admit homecomings are glorious things whether they be to the good old homestead or back to sorority circles. At least this is our impression after greeting the scores of alumni who returned to renew the broken threads of past associations. The past years since the organization of the sorority, were represented without a single exception at our breakfast Sunday morning. The breakfast climaxed a week-end filled with activities most enjoyable and some quite unusual.

Under the enjoyable activities must be listed the tea arranged for us after the football game by our housemother, Mrs. Eyestone. Two of our alumni even flew down to visit us, not quite all the way but almost. This alone is unusual but souvenir hunters who made away with our two house signs performed the most unique trick.

Skol Skrols

After such a grand week-end we want to tell the rest of the world what we Skols have been doing.

Our alumni chapter held a meeting Saturday A. M. and surprised us with a lovely gift—silver candlesticks. They also voted $10 to President Williams' Portrait Fund.

Our "brunch" at the Woman's Club was lots of fun. We returned to the house after the "brunch" where a memorial service was held for Esther Russell the first president of the Skol.

The Sorority girls, wearing huge yellow mams, attended the football game in a body.

We all enjoyed the annual Homecoming dance and from the reports of the various members who attended the Fraternity dances, we understand they were both a huge success.

Seven Sister Scribbles

Homecoming has come and gone. The Sevens renewed past friendships and acquired new ones. What took place?

On Friday evening we chanced to see many of the Sevens reporting for duty on the dance floor. Saturday, of course, would not be complete without our annual informal dinner party held at the Woman's Club in honor of the alumni association.

Ah, there were so many familiar faces and so many interesting tales to exchange. We really hated to see the week-end come to a close. Now we are looking forward to the next Seven Sister gathering. Will you wait with us?

THREE KAY NEWS

Wednesday night the Three Kays staged their last pre-rush party, which took the form of a hobo party. A real hobo would have refused to speak to us. After all, even a hobo has some pride.

Saturday night we were most happy to entertain our alumni at a homecoming dinner. Several of the former members returned for the affair which was held in the Methodist church. We're always glad to see our alumni and we hope that they enjoyed themselves.

Falcons Topped by Marietta

Our hapless Falcons took another on the chin Saturday afternoon. The Pioneers of Marietta College further humbled the downtrodden B. G. gridders by scoring a 31 to 0 victory. This was the sixth straight game in which the Falcons have failed to score. Their opponents have scored 246 points.

Despite the fact that this was the homecoming game the Ockerman crew was unable to stop the Marietta attack after the first quarter. After resisting two advances in the first period the Falcons defense bogged down and Marietta scored twice. The first score came as a result of a Hickie pass to Whiting to the B. G. five yard line where Hickie smashed over for the score in three plays. Harris came in to place kick the goal. The second touchdown of the second period came after intercepting a pass on the B. G. 31. After a series of line plays had carried the ball to the two yard line, Hickie again smashed over for the touchdown.

The second half played in a slight drizzle found Hickie scoring two more touchdowns and Magee another.

The Falcons at times showed drive and power but lacked the punch once in close scoring territory.

The line showed an improved form on the defensive but failed to open up holes on the offensive to a great extent. The defeat wasn't due to the line play but to a mediocre pass defense. It was passes that carried the ball into the shadow of the B. G. goal posts where line smashes accounted for the scores.

The last quarter found the Falcons battling gamely to score. A passing attack took the ball into Pioneer territory several times but the attack was stopped each time by interception of passes.

The game was rough throughout with numerous players stretched out on the ground needing aid and in some cases were helped off the field. Many penalties were called on both teams and penalties ranged from 5 to 15 yards. The starting lineup follows:

Bee Gee—0	Marietta—31
Stevenson.....L E	Zigler
Ringer.....L T	Nuckles
Young.....L G	Bowser

Heckler.....R T	Thackery

Touchdowns—Hickie 4, Magee 4. Points after touchdowns—Harris (place kick).

Substitutions—Marietta, Harris, 1; Sheets, 1e; Virgin, 9; Stone, 1e; Wilson, rt; Sylvester, 1h; Cummings, rh; Swartz, rt. Bowling Green, Ihnat, rt;

Hiram Here to Close B. G. Year

The Falcons will end the most disastrous season in the history of the institution by meeting the Hiram "Terriers" Saturday on the local gridiron.

Hiram also has been having a terrible year so the game will be a battle for the cellar position in the Ohio Conference. However, Hiram has scored touchdowns this season and knows how it feels to cross the opponents goal line. The Falcon have yet to experience this feeling. Hiram will bring a team averaging 160 pounds. Will the Falcons end the season by winning or at least scoring some points? Your guess is as good as anyone's. Let's both see for ourselves Saturday afternoon.

Teacher: "Jimmy, use the word 'anecdote' in a sentence".

Jimmy: (after hasty glance in a small dictionary which tells him that an anecdote is a short tale) "Crossing the road was a rabbit with an anecdote."
